STEUBENVILLE, O., July 17 .- About noon yesterday, on the canal tow path, a mile west of Trenton, Tuscarawas ounty, Ohio, a negro made a most des perate and fiendish attempt to assault the person of a young woman 18 years of age. She was married about three weeks ago to a Mr. Zortman, and her maiden name was Hulda Roth. The negro goes by the name of Edward Banks.

The uncle of the girl, Mr. Cyrus Roth, from Lock 17, Toscarawas county, together with three other men from Urichaville, arrived here shortly after Urichaville, arrived here shortly after y noon in pursuit of Banks. He offers a reward of $50 for the flend's capture. The fugitive is about 5 feet 10 inches tall, weight 160 pounds, wearing a black suit, and when last seen was in his y shirt sleeves, the shirt being a white gone. His complexion is a light yellow. He has a very light monstache, and his eyes are what are sometimes termed to "pop-eyes," sticking out from his head. He wore a black soft slouch lat.

Mr. Roth said he should feel very for grateful for any aid which the INTELLIGENCER and other papers might afford him in apprehending the monster. He was without knowledge as to what his niece's present condition might be.

It is not our purpose to do them any injury."

Then there was a general running talk to solve the problem of labor troubles, and it developed that no single line will be followed out but a series of educational efforts, the most important of which is ballot reform.

"That something of this kind is necessary can be seen by the state of affairs in my own State of Pennsylvania," said Mr. Powderly. "There in the coal fields the laborer is under the grind of the millstones. Every effort has been

Every effort has been made to convince him that his remedy made to convince him that his remedy, is in his own hands at the polis, but when election day comes he walks up and votes as usual for the old parties and for men who go to Congress and sell out. There laborers cannot plead ignorance. Every man over eighteen years of sge has had a chance to post himself, and why is it that he votes against his own interests? It is a question easy of solution to the thinker and reader of to-day, and the coly remedy is the secret ballot, where the citizen can vote without fearing to express his own feelings and bring misery upon himself by his vote. Several bills have been prepared for the development of this theory, but not one of them covers the requirements. It is only a pretense. Chicago, July 17.—About 600 dock aborers and freight handless for the various Chicago steamship companies went on a strike last night. The affair was inaugurated by the freight house was inaugarated by the freight house men of the Anchor Line Steamship Company. The cause of the strike was due to the fact that the company refused to pay the men wenty-five cents an hour in place of twenty cents they now receive, and thus make it possible for them to earn $8 a day, working eight hours in the day. The men held a meeting in Lumbermen's Exchange, some seven or eight hundred dock hands being present to voice their demands on the company. A feeling of unanimity prevailed and a letter embodying the needs of the men was drawn up and sent to valled and a letter embodying the needs of the men was drawn up and sent to Superintendent Evans, who replied that he was perfectly willing to pay twenty-live cents an hour to the employes of his company if the other lines would do the same thing; and, moreover, that whether or not the only lines did advance the schedule of wages he would do so, and that on the first day of the coming month, gates have, however, gone home.

A session was held Tuesday night, at which the movement to reduce the salaries of the President and Secretary was taken up and amended, giving each officer an advance of $100, making their salaries now $1,400 and $1,300 respectively. Several other matters were disposed of, among them the electric bulb report.

The session yesterday was occupied in disposing of the Grievance Committee's report and the proposed amendments to report and the proposed amendments to the Constitution, but nothing definite could be obtained as to what progress the Constitution, but nothing dennite could be obtained as to what progress they had made.

The convention has without a dissenting voice adopted a long preamble, setting forth the sentiment of the flint glassworkers in favor of the strict enforcement of the Government contract labor law prohibiting the importation of contract labor from foreign countries and denouncing in unqualified terms the laxity of the proper authorities in prosecuting violators of this law, and Resolved, That the American Flint Glass Workers' Convention hereby authorizes the Executive Board, in conjunction with the national officers, to take such steps as is deemed advisable by them to bring this question to the attention of the Secretary of the Treasury and insist upon having proper attention, so that we may ascertain if C. Doerlinger, at White Mills, or any other manufacturer, has violated the contract labor law and it is further manufacturer, has violated the contract labor law, and it is further Resolved, That if sufficient evidence be found to warrant a prosecution the officers named shall proceed in such course.

This paper was received with enthusiasm and was heartly indorsed by the whole convention.
Among other things the labor papers got an airing. The Commoner and Glass Worker was denounced for defending the importation of glass blowers to Jeannette, Pa., and other places, and the position of that paper on this question lost it the support of the Filit Glass Workers' Convention, which adopted the National Glass Budget as their official organ.

civil service commission to-day made public its second report in the Milwau-public its second report in the Milwaukee postoffice case. It says in part:

The report of Chief Examiner W. M.
H. Webster, who was sent there in September, 1888, disclosed gross and repeated violations of the law.
That there has been crooked work in the office is admitted by all. It can be shown to exist by a brief examination of the analytical statements compiled from the certification book and of the pencil memoranda from which the certification were actually made. The only question is where and of the pencil memoranda from which the certification were actually made. The only question is where the responsibility lies. We examined the secretary of the local examining board, Hamilton Shidy, and the chairman, J. B. Johnson. Shidy is admitted by all to have done the work of the board, the other members doing little save assisting in marking the papers and attending occasional formal meetings held at long and irregular intervals. Shidy testifies that he was compelled by the postmaster to give the latter free access to the list of eligibles, although such access was at that time strictly forbidden, and he further testifies that the postmaster, knowing those who were eligible as well as their standing, appointed whomsoever he chose and then forced him (Shidy) to torture the lists and certification books so as to produce a certification which should befit the appointee's name. Shidy testifies that he yielded to all the postmaster's demands, because he knew that a refusal to do so would have entailed the immediate loss of his place, and therefore of his means of support. Shidy and Johnson testified before us in Mr. Paul's repaination was that he had forced them against their own judgment to re-mark them, giving a lower grade. Mr. Paul's explanation was that he had forced them to alter the mark, but he admitted that he had expressed great dissatisfaction with the marking, and that in consequence it had been changed.

The conclusion is irresistable that Mr. Paul's expansation is tresistable that Mr. Paul's expansation with the marking, and that in consequence it had been changed.

marking, and that in consequence it had been changed.

The conclusion is irresistable that Mr. Paul is responsible for the wrong doing. He has grossly and habitually violated the law and has done it in a peculiarly revolting and underhand manner. His conduct merits the severest punishment, His further continuance in the office would be a great misfortune and we recommend his immediate removal.

I am positive that he fully appreciates what has been done for him by his backers and trainers. He has in Charlie Johnson, of Brooklyn, whose name is used in my alleged interview, a true friend, and one whose friendship and generosity cannot be equalled. This is what I have to say about Suffivan, Johnson and myself. Our treatment by the Southern people, especially in New Orleans, was very generous, courteous and kind, and I would like the friends of Mr. Sullivan all over the country to extend their heartiest thanks to the Young Men's Gymnastic Club and the representatives of the daily press of New Orleans; also to Pat Dufly, who was untiring in his efforts to see that we were properly cared for and made as comfortable as possible.

NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL MEETING

Lively Discussion Regarding Denomi-tional Schools—Cardinal Gibbons' Pape Nashville, Tenn., July 17.—The second day's session of the National Educational Association, was called to order at 9 o'clock this morning, by President Marble, with a very large attendance of teachers and educators. Henry A. Wise marile, with a very large attenuance of teachers and educators. Henry A. Wise, of Baltimore, read a paper upon the introduction of manual training at the present time into the public schools. The question of denominational schools was taken up, and Bishop John J. Keane, of Washington, was introduced to the audience. He extended the regrets of Cardinal Gibbons at his inability to be present, and read a paper prepared by the Cardinal upon this question: Should Americans educate their children in denominational schools?

Bishop Keane followed in an able paper on the same subject, taking the position that christianity was the basis of all the government and should be inculcated during the period when children were attending school. If the influence of the church was beneficial in the family it was also in the school.

Mr. Edwin D. Mead, of Boston, followed in a lengthy paper in which he said that the arguments advanced by Cardinal Gibbons in the favor of non-interference of the State with the family in the matter of education was only a device to damage the State's authority n the matter of education was only a levice to damage the State's authority device to damage the State's authority in public opinion to the end that the Roman Catholic church especially could take charge when possible. He said the plan of the Romish church was to compel all Catholics to withdraw their children from the public schools to parochial schools, where they would be taught the docrines of the church. Such a system, he said, would not be tolerated in America.

Bishop Kenne replied and denied Mr. Mead's assertion that the Pope or the Mead's assertion that the Pope or the Catholic church was seeking temporal power and the control of the government. Both addresses were forcible and were heartily applauded.

MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING.

NEW YORK, July 17 .- A mysterio ase of shooting in which three longbody's malice has just come to notice. Frank Meyers, of 6 Renwick street, and Edward Fanning, of 216 Elizabeth street, both longshoremen, walked into Chambers street hospital yesterday with pistol shot wounds in the body. The men said that while at work on the Ocean Steamship Company's wharf, at pier 35, North river, they were shot by some person or persons. The men after having their wounds dressed went away. At noon to-day James Egan, of 200 Spring street, came into the hospital with three pistol shots in his body. He, too, said while working in pier 35 yesterday afternoon some mysterious person or persons shot him. After the bullets were extracted he left. The shooting has thrown everybody in the pier into a state-of-terror and everybody imagines that he will be shot. The police are engaged in trying to find out who is doing the shooting, but as yet no arrests have been made. A theory given out as the cause of the shooting is that several Longshoremen were discharged some time ago and their places were filled. The three men who were shot were among the newcomers, and it is believed by a great many that the old men are trying to get even by shooting. thot were among the newcomers, and it is believed by a great many that the old nen are trying to get even by shooting hem.

Bosron, July 17 .- The Ærial Exhibithis city, with C. M. Ransom, of Modern Light and Heat, Treasurer; R. N. Bowlby Chairman, and Charles B. Chairman of the Board of Trustees The object of the association is to assist Dr. Dr. A. DeBausett to construct a steel air ship upon the vacuum principle. The ship is to be constructed en-tirely of thin steel plates of the strongest possible tensile strength and thoroughly braced inside development in mechanics to resist the stress of the pressure of the atmosphere, when a partial vacuum is obtained. It is expected to lift 200 passengers and fifty tons of mail or other matter, and also to carry all the machinery and apparatus, with electrical power sufficient to give a speed to the ship of seventy miles an hour. Dr. DeBausett has applied for permission to build the ship at the Charleston Navy Yard. The cost is expected to be $250,000. Dr. Do Bausett claims that his plans are approved by the most eminent scientists and engineering experts in this country.

It and its Navigator May be in the Ocean The Inventor Mystified.

New York, July 17.—Nothing has been heard of Inventor Campbell's air ship or its navigator, Prof. E. D. Hogan, mystery as at midnight last night. The riends of Æronaut Hogan are becoming alarmed and do not take as confident as Frank Meyers, of 6 Renwick street, and they did last evening. A reporter found Edward Fanning, of 216 Elizabeth street, Mr. Campbell this morning anxiously awaiting the arrival of news of the air

Mr. Campbell this morning anxiously awaiting the arrival of news of the air ship. Inventor Campbell said that he had been up all night and had telegraphed to different points in Connecticut and Long Island inquiring whether any one had seen the queer looking and oddy rigged ship. No one was able to give him any clew and the inventor looked careworn and anxious.

"It is all very mysterious," he said, "and I am at a loss to account for it. I have not the slightest idea where Hogan could have gone with the ship. He could have come down even after he had lost the far-like propeller, as he had a valve rope and could have allowed the ship to come down easily."

An experimental trip was made from the yard of the Nassau Gas Company's works at the foot of Morton street, Brooklyn, where the egg-scaped balloon was filled with gas. About 15,000 feet were forced into it. It was estimated that there was gas enough to carry 700 pounds, and 250 pounds of sand bags were put into the car with the aeronaut and the electric motor to propel it.

The sscent was successfully made, but after the ship had risen several hundred feet the propellor fan, used for raising and lowering the ship, was lost, and fell to the ground in Hoop street. This left no means for raising or lowering except by the sand bags and by letting it out. The air ship started on the way toward the ocean. There was some disagreement among spectators as to the exact direction taken by the air ship, but the general opinion was that it went toward Coney Island. It was thought by some that the machine had gone out to sea, but it was said on the other hand that the sernaut could steer it wherever he pleased.
